MEMORANDUM FOR: Director, Foreign Broadcast Information Service

THROUGH : Chief, Operations Group

SUBJECT: Monthly Report -- Panama Bureau -- September 1985

I. GENERAL

To the extent effort can be quantified, September 1985 appears to have been one of the most active months at Panama Bureau, with several overnight watches. ROSET wordage hit an all-time high of well over 100,000 words for the month, with Mexican events prominent. The most significant ROSET coverage was that which we provided on the Mexican earthquakes and their aftermath. Coincidentally we were monitoring the Mexican 113.5W Morelos 1 satellite on 19 September when the first major shock hit. We were able to view and record the movement of objects within the studio and the evident alarm of the newscasters. Although the station quickly went off the air, we were able to find another channel carrying shots of the devastated city. Before the day was out SOUTHCOM officers viewed and recorded some of the bureau's live coverage of the disaster. The material was used to brief General Galvin, the SOUTHCOM CINC, later that night in anticipation of a request for disaster relief. On the 19th the bureau extended its operations overnight to cover followup reports on the earthquake and to monitor the situation on Nicaragua's Pacific coastline, where a "gigantic" tidal wave was reportedly on its way.

On 1 September we monitored Mexican President Miguel de la Madrid's State of the Nation speech. The full and prompt reporting of this annual speech (amounting to over 30,000 words) contrasts sharply with the coverage of previous, pre-ROSET years when only sketchy reports were available from poor to unmonitorable Mexico City shortwave or from press agency reports, and the text only from the Mexican press on a much-delayed basis.

Other noteworthy ROSET television coverage over the past four weeks included the 16 September parade and ceremonies marking the 175th anniversary of Mexico's independence from Spain; the 12 September live launch of the Ariane rocket from French Guiana and the failed deployment of its two onboard satellites; and the 11 and 12 September two-part interview with Chilean President Pinochet from Colombian television.

Due to all of the above, a record number of eight video selection lists were filed during the month, twice the total output for 1984. Consumers quickly requested two of these eight selections: The State Department was interested in viewing the interview with Pinochet, and the BBC was interested in the 2 and 1/2 hour military parade honoring Mexican independence.

II. OPERATIONS

A. Monitorial/Editorial

Within Panama, the political atmosphere began to heat up but not to the point of hindering bureau operations. The macabre murder of legendary guerrilla fighter Hugo Spadafora — whose decapitated body was found on the Costa Rican border on 16 September — shocked the nation and prompted widespread indignation and demands for punishment of the responsible parties. Differences within the administration on how to investigate the crime and bring its perpetrators to justice are seen as the basis for the ouster of President Nicolas Ardito Barletta on 27 September, a few hours after he returned to the country following a 26 September speech at the UN General Assembly meeting in New York. This incident prompted an overnight watch as the legislative assembly was called to a special session late that evening, and the first vice president, Eric Arturo Delvalle, was sworn into office at 4 a.m. on 28 September.

On 10 September the eldest daughter of Salvadoran President Jose Napoleon Duarte was kidnapped, by persons and for purposes that are still not clear. The Salvadoran Government is reportedly negotiating with the kidnappers in utmost secrecy, and, although the kidnapping has been attributed to the 3-month old "Pedro Pablo Castillo Front," the FMLN has not yet claimed responsibility for the action. Due to intense interest in this little-known group, the bureau prepared a listing of all references to the Front by Salvadoran clandestine media for the past 4 months. Although the Salvadoran Government has banned all media coverage of the incident so as not to hinder the negotiations, statements by FMLN and FDR spokesmen and by government officials have provided a generous amount of copy.

Two days prior to their mutual Independence Day, 15 September, yet another confusing border incident between Honduras and Nicaragua brought the two countries closer than ever to the brink of war. As usual, the two countries accused each other of provoking the incident in which one Honduran soldier was killed and eight wounded. Due to the seriousness of the situation, the bureau kept an overnight watch on Honduran and Nicaraguan transmitters on 13 September.

In Cuba, President Fidel Castro continued his efforts to direct Latin American thinking on the foreign debt problem by hosting a "Youth and Student Dialogue on the Latin American-Caribbean Foreign Debt." Castro's 14 September closing speech at the event ran 33 takes.

The meeting of the ministers of the nonaligned movement in Luanda, Angola, from 4 to 8 September brought a flood of traffic—including several priority items — from Havana's PRENSA LATINA, which has a permanent correspondent in this African capital.

B. Communications

Bureau Mode V communications experienced serious disruptions throughout September owing to problems at the Panama Automated Relay (PAR). Beginning on 12 September and extending well into October, the bureau's circuit was operational only sporadically and we relied heavily on our TELEX altroute. During the month, the bureau used the TELEX a total of 37 hours to file priority and immediate traffic.

Work on the bureau's Mode I "Mux" circuit upgrade was in abeyance awaiting a testing team to arrive from Fort Richie, Maryland, in mid-October.

C. Lateral Services

Don Hamilton, the PAO for the American Embassy in San Salvador, asked us on 20 September to provide for him any items on the Pedro Pablo Castillo Front we might have monitored prior to the abduction of President Duarte's daughter on the 10th, and remarks made since 1 September by Venceremos, Farabundo Marti, or guerrilla sources on unification. In thanking us in advance, he stated that he believes "FBIS is not appreciated enough" for the work that it does. We were able to wirefile to him the following day a DAILY REPORT page listing of several responsive items.

At the bureau's suggestion, the Political Section of the embassy in Panama asked for drop copies of Soviet comment on and reaction to a conference in Panama of U.S. chiefs of mission accredited to Latin American countries.

III. ADMINISTRATION

Personne1 Spanish Monitor STAT received a Quality Step Increase from FBN-9/3 to FBN-9/4 effective 29 September. Administrative Assistant attended the Foreign STAT National Orientation Program in Washington, D. C. 9-13 September. B. Building and Grounds STAT Contractor completed the screened porches for the FBIS houses on Ft. Clayton. Contractor started construction work on the staff STAT secretary's booth in the bureau library and on the window between the editorial and communication rooms. We held the first of two planned fire drills, the suggestion of the Regional Security Officer, on 12 September. The next will be in November. IV. VISITS STAT members of th Inspector General's team examining FBIS operations worldwide, visited the bureau 21-28 September, They met with a wide range of consumers of the bureau product and interviewed staff and some non-staff personnel. STAT en route to Bangkok PCS, visited the bureau on 23 and 24 September. The main purpose of the visit was familiarization with ROSET operations. Paraguay monitor STAT returning to Paraguay from the Foreign National Orientation Program, was also briefed on ROSET, on 29 September. The bureau's contact in Honduras for the remote operation, PAO Mike O'Brien, visited the bureau on 16 September for a briefing. He was accompanied by Col. Neil Buttimer, SOUTHCOM's new PAO, and Lt. Col. Frank Feild, the SOUTHCOM deputy PAO.

While there has been no improvement in bureau communications, this is not due to the lack of effort to educate those responsible. On 17 September, we briefed civilians Herman Tucker and Kenneth Berry and Army Specialist Kathie Whitfield on bureau communications, current and future. The three, from Ft. Detrick ASC, were in Panama to see PAR, TechControl, and all connected tributaries. On the 26th, Lt. Gary Kirkman and SFC Bruce Horowitz from PAR were at the bureau to hear our litany of complaints and to make the usual promises for improvements.

Other visitors to the bureau included 11 members of a linguist team from the Utah National Guard, on TDY in Panama; and two officers and an enlisted man from Galeta Island Facility.
